Abstract (resumen de 100-250 palabras)
The assignments of indivisibles goods have been a very recurrent problem during a lot of years, and a lot of authors have written about it. In the following article, I study the assignment’s problem in the work practices’ election of the Public University of Navarre in the economics and business faculty, and I find some problems that can be easily resolved with some little changes and others that needs to be analysed. I utilize the literature about assignments and the systems of other universities to create a new system based on objective criteria. I compare the two systems and I discover a better system that satisfies the Pareto’s efficiency.
