	The aim of the final degree individual project is to analyse the importance of the contribution of the Nobel Prize for the development of knowledge society, to help in solving economic problems, etc. For its development, a small study is made of the total of all winners in economics, their relationship with the historical moment, the relevance of the economic cycle, rather than studies of the winners and analyse what important it is to have the recognition of the Nobel Prize. To do this, a small study of how to select the winners, the branch of economic thought that predominates in each decade, which have preferences when nominating and the importance of research of the Nobel Prizes. It could also analyse the difference in average age contribution to the award and receiving of this. Have been analysed the footsteps of the Swedish Academy for choosing Nobel Prize and criteria have prevailed when choosing the nominees. Also to enhance this project, it has been done a brief survey to some of the professional staff of UPNA (Public University of Navarra). Then a study was done to test the relative contributions of Nobel Prize prizes to the economic cycle in which we live. It concludes that rather than economic time wherein one lives, has more influence where it has been studied
