Abstract (leburpena 100-250 hitzetan)

The paper tries to give a solution to the problematic of the actual economic systems' limitations regarding the contribution to a more sustainable development. This way, creating social economies and more precisely cooperatives as a new business option.

For so, the paper analyses the case of the Tindragen cooperation and its internationalization actions. Tindragen being a very well recognized cooperative worldwide.

The results obtained about specific aspects to be reconsidereed and necessary for sustainability are not only to be considered by the TIC but, they serve as precedent for any other firm, nation etc for implementing right actions, policies and other measures for a better sustainable development. Trying to motivate individuals to work closer with cooperation and human and planet centered values.
